Jason you were such a good person, something that is not very common today.

I remember when we launched a model rocket at the one of the local schools in Camrose. After we tracked it down on someone's roof and knocked on the door, two kids answered and we tried to explain how our rocket had landed on their roof (ceasing to mention it was a model rocket). They slowly closed the door not saying a word. Probably under the impression that we were a little crazy. After hiking half way across town with a ladder we climbed up their roof without them knowing to get the rocket back. It was a very fun and hilarious adventure. It is something I will never forget. I'm going to miss you so much. Gone too soon.
